King is the luckiest guy in the club. His ticket was drawn again, but he got a yellow marble. Super Pot is now $570.

In case you missed it . . .

Last week we welcomed several honored guests – Bert’s mother, who is in her 90s and still an active Deacon in the Episcopal Church, and his wife Jane, an accomplished local artist. Bob’s guest John shared a story from their service in Vietnam together. John K. successfully recited the 4-Way Test but was promptly fined for using a cheat sheet. Steve added to the mayhem with some crazy stats about bananas. Trisha earned her official blue badge, presented by her sponsor Sabrina. Happy Bucks were donated all around.

Carol Roscelli from the Murphys Community Club reviewed all that is happening in the park, including the bocce ball tournaments, concerts, upgrades to the hut, and the picket fence fundraiser ($100 each with your choice of engraving). Local artist

Robin Modlin is working on a mosaic to beautify the cinder block wall of the bathroom building, with the help of 5th grade students and Pam Quyle’s pottery kilns. Robin also made the mosaic in front of Murphys Grille. The project needs financial support, and anyone who would like to participate is welcome to... contact robin.modlin@gmail.com.
